Editorial Review

Review

Neil Weir, Journal of Laryngology and Otology, (2009): "... The two volumes hold a wealth of information ... This splendid book is an essential reference for all ENT departments' libraries. ..." Meredydd Harries, ENT Consultant, ENTNews, (2009): "... A comprehensive and multi-disciplinary review of laryngology and has excellent sections in most areas to appeal to the specific interests of any laryngologist. Everything is here - and usually in depth - and for the price it is good value for both the department library and to have in your own study. I like it." John Schweinfurth, MD, Head & Neck, (2010): "Drs. Fried and Ferlito have been diligent in providing comprehensive representations of the current knowledge base on the subject and the growing interest in the field."

About the Author

Marvin Fried, M.D., F.A.C.S. Marvin P. Fried, M.D. is a New York native, and graduate of City College of New York 1965. He received the New York City Jonas Salk Award and Scholarship from New York City College. He graduated Tufts University School of Medicine in 1969, followed by training in Otolaryngology at Washington University School of Medicine, where he also served as a Fellow of the National Institute of Neurologic Disease and Stroke. After serving in the United States Public Health Service in Norfolk, Virginia at the rank of Surgeon (Commander), his first faculty appointment was at Boston University School of Medicine and Tufts University School of Medicine. In 1979, he joined the Harvard Medical School faculty, being promoted ultimately to Professor of Otolaryngology and Laryngology in 1997.
