Analytical Separation Science, 5 Volume Set By Jared Anderson, Alain Berthod, Veronica Pino, Apryll M. Stalcup

Leading the way for analytical chemists developing new techniques.

This new comprehensive 5 volume set on separation science provides a much needed research-level text for both academic users and researchers who are working with and developing the most current methods, as well as serving as a valuable resource for graduate and post-graduate students.

Comprising of five topical volumes it provides a comprehensive overview of the subject, highlighting aspects that will drive research in this field in the years to come.

Volume 1: Liquid Chromatography

Volume 2: Special Liquid Chromatography Modes and Capillary

Electromigration Techniques

Volume 3: Gas, Supercritical and Chiral Chromatography

Volume 4: Chromatographic and Related Techniques

Volume 5: Sample Treatment, Method Validation, and Applications

Key Features:

- Comprises over 2,100 pages in 5 volumes – available in print and online
- Edited by an international editorial team which has both prominent and experienced senior researchers as well as young and dynamic rising stars
- Individual chapters are labeled as either introductory or advanced, in order to guide readers in finding the content at the appropriate level
- Fully indexed with cross referencing within and between all 5 volumes

Editorial Review

About the Author

Jared L. Anderson is a Professor of Chemistry in the Department of Chemistry at Iowa State University in Ames, Iowa. He obtained his B.S. degree from South Dakota State University in 2000 and his Ph.D. in analytical chemistry from Iowa State University in 2005. He was an assistant, associate, and full professor of chemistry in the Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry at the University of Toledo (Ohio) before joining the faculty at Iowa State University in August 2015. He was awarded the "Emerging Leader in Chromatography Award" in 2010 by LCGC North America and the "Young Investigator in Separation Science Award" by the American Chemical Society in 2012. He is also the recipient of the 2016 Pittsburgh Conference Achievement Award given by the Society for Analytical Chemists of Pittsburgh. He has authored over 100 peer-reviewed publications.

Alain Berthod graduated in 1979 from University Claude Bernard of Lyon, Villeurbanne, France. He took a research position at the French National Center for Scientific Research (CNRS), where he made his career ending as a Research Director in the Institute of Analytical Sciences. He was granted the "emeritus" status in 2015. He is a member of the editorial board of several analytical journals and the editor of Separation & Purification Reviews. He has edited seven symposium volumes and authored three books and over 250 articles, reviews, and book chapters.

Veronica Pino is a Professor in the Department of Chemistry, Analytical Division of the University of La Laguna (ULL), Canary Islands. She obtained a Ph.D. degree in Analytical Chemistry in 2002 from ULL, with Doctorate Extraordinary Award and Special Mention for Young Canary Researchers from the Canary Government. She has conducted several research stays during her career, including Wake Forest University, Canary Institute of Agrarian Research, Iowa State University, University of Toledo, and University Claude Bernard. She was awarded with a prestigious "Ramón y Cajal" research associate position in 2010 at ULL. She has authored over 70 articles, reviews, and book chapters.

Apryll Stalcup is Professor of Analytical Chemistry at Dublin City University's School of Chemical Sciences in Dublin, Ireland, where she heads the Irish Separation Science Cluster. A graduate from Georgetown University, she held professorships at the University of Hawaii and the University of Cincinnati before moving to Dublin in 2012.

Users Review

From reader reviews:

Sarah Stiles:

Now a day people that living in the era wherever everything reachable by connect to the internet and the resources inside it can be true or not require people to be aware of each info they get.
